Since 1975, ICI has produced exhibitions, events, publications, and training opportunities for diverse audiences around the world. Like no other organization, we connect emerging and established curators, artists, and institutions to forge international networks and generate new forms of collaboration.

As a result, in the last year alone 12 ICI exhibitions have been presented by 66 venues in 20 countries, profiling the work of over 350 artists worldwide, and 67 emerging curators from 24 countries and 14 U.S. states have participated in the Curatorial Intensive, ICI's short-course professional training programs.

Help ICI continue in 2012 to connect and train the next generation of curators and build networks with new venues for art around the world.

Thanks to Agnes Gund and Jo Carole Lauder for jump-starting the Access Fund in 2009.
