Christo and Jeanne-Claude set an incredible precedent in art that resonates as strongly today as it did when they made their first work. The poetry and scale of their practice, let alone the magnitude of collaboration that it takes to realize each project, is hugely influential across generations and around the world. Known to be a private man, Christo has offered the rare opportunity for 4 people to experience an intimate studio visit, where he will share the details you always wanted to know about the public art works that changed the direction of art history.

Reminisce about the Gates in Central Park and hear stories about wrapping the Reichstag in Berlin, or installing the Umbrellas in Japan. Be one of the first to hear more about new works to come, including Over The River, which will be constructed over the Arkansas River in Colorado, suspending 6.7 miles of reflective, translucent fabric panels high above the water.
